Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The waste of time and money caused by litigation over Microsoft needs to come to an end. The settlement seems like a fair solution. What Microsoft has done for the last 10 or so years is make personal computing accessible and affordable for the average consumer as well as creating a standardized platform for almost everyone who uses a PC. Microsoft has in no way hurt consumers. It is to the benefit of the national economy to get this thing over with. Sincerely Carol Shukle
